Media Inquiries

Members of The Press:

Brutal Divorce Tactics™ welcomes inquiries from professional media representatives and organizations. Our goal is to help you locate the information, or people you need as quickly and easily as possible. To that end, we have provided links to a number of informational pages on our website that answers common questions about Brutal Divorce Tactics, the company, its brand, and its products.

We have also indicated the specific person or department in Brutal Divorce Tactics' organization who can process a request for a review copy, set up an interview, or respond to an inquiry on a particular product or question. Because of high volume, requests may require up to 14 days to be fulfilled. Inquiries that are not made though the indicated channels are subject to further delay, as they must be re-routed.

To help ensure a prompt and thorough response, please take a moment to review the information below:
- Interviews and Appearances: Reno Brackman participates in many interviews and his current schedule does allow for appearances on radio and television.
- Background materials and other Information: Once logged in you will see details relating to the DVD collection, international roll-out dates, approved images, permissions related to DVD content usage, and current press materials.To fill out a media request form
click here
You will be emailed immediately with login information. Please return to this page to log in and view our Media Kit online.